

Allies Massing for Gigantic Drive Russians Launch Powerful Offensive in Silesia

Neustadt Falls, Trap Closed on 5,000 Germans

Wounds Cut through Seven Nazi Strongholds,
Take 400 Towns

LONDON, Friday, March 23 (AP)—Soviet troops, launched a powerful offensive to clear industrial Silesia, have captured the production city of Neustadt, within one mile of Czechoslovakia and killed or captured 5,000 Nazi troops in a trap forged by Red army advances of twenty-five miles, Moscow announced last night.

Putting through seven major strongholds and more than 400 towns and villages south of the city, the Red army captured the city of Neustadt, a major industrial center, and the surrounding area, including the towns of Strehlen, Munsterberg, Niesse, Loebnitz and Ratibor.

Simultaneously, Soviet forces battled to within three and one-half miles of the Baltic port of Gdynia and tightened their siege around the former Free City of Danzig, where the Czechoslovakian Tatra mountains, other Russian shock troops forced the Hron river within five miles of Banska Bystrica.

Konev's new offensive dovetailed into the continuous assault which the Russians had launched against the prize German industrial base of Stettin, and with a driving Red army offensive in Hungary which Berlin said was hammering west of Budapest within twenty-five miles of Vienna.

Konev's mighty army went over the offensive in areas west and south of the Oder river town of Oppeln, forty-seven miles southeast of Breslau, in extreme Southeastern Germany.

Striking south from Grottkau, twenty-three miles west of Oppeln, a giant pincer plunged into the area, driving toward the city of Breslau, while the second strike twenty miles west from bridgeheads across the Oder between Krappitz, thirteen miles south of Oppeln, and thirty miles southeast of Oppeln.

Striking near Zuelz, five miles northeast of Neustadt, the Russians captured a large enemy group in the Tiliowitz and Schellitz forests southwest of Oppeln, killing more than 30,000 and taking another 15,000 prisoner. The encircled enemy group was routed, Marshal Stalin announced in an order of the day, in a pocket about 420 square miles in area.

Neustadt Captured
The two armies then seized Neustadt, within four miles of the vital railroad linking the Czechoslovak industrial city of Moravsk-Ostava with Central Germany and the city of Berlin. The Russians were striking for Ziegenhals, eight miles west of Neustadt, in an attempt to cut the strategic Sudeten railway line.

The junction of the two jaws of Konev's pincers established an eighty-mile front west of the Oder river, along which the Russians threatened five major towns producing war materials for the German war machine. At the northern end, thirty miles west of Oppeln, Konev's troops increased the peril of the already-threatened eleven-day communication hub of Strehlen by capturing Lorenzdorf, seven miles southeast.

U. S. Operation Of Mines Looms

By HAROLD W. WARD
WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP)—Government intervention appeared inevitable to some bituminous operators today as John L. Lewis refused to budge from his ten cent a ton royalty demand and operators continued to oppose it.

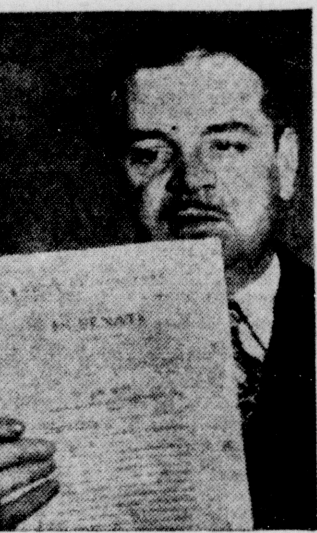

The conference between the operators and Lewis's United Mine Workers for a new contract resumed after recessing yesterday for private talks between key negotiators.

Conference Chairman Ezra van Horn reported after today's session that the situation remained unchanged. Two days ago the operators said there was no progress to date in writing a contract to supplant the one running out on March 31.

Charles O'Neill and George Campbell, the operators' sub-committee who talked to Lewis yesterday, reported a stalemate over the royalty demand to the main conference today.

Meantime the Labor department's conciliators stood by, as they have throughout the negotiations, which started March 1, ready to step in whenever they appear to be needed.

La Guardia Gives Reasons for His Stand on Curfew

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)—Mayor F. H. LaGuardia said tonight that his "hour of tolerance" for amusement place closing was intended to make the nationwide curfew "workable, enforceable and sensible" as it applied to New York City.

"It is simply constraining the existing regulations in such a manner as to make it easily enforced," he said in a prepared broadcast (BLUE, 7 p. m. ewt), adding:

Seeks To Enforce Law
"Your mayor is seeking to avoid recurrence of criminal activities, graft, corruption and unlawful operations such as were created by prohibition."

LaGuardia suggested that Congress could create an "enforceable curfew by establishing a license system fixing the hours of operation. This 'could even be inserted as a proviso in the internal revenue law,' he said. "We have had many, many such instances before. That would make it mandatory, lawful and enforceable."

He made no reference to the decision of nearly all New York night clubs and theaters, and many taprooms, to close at midnight rather than at one o'clock as his action last Sunday permitted.

Asking himself a series of questions and then answering them, the mayor said:

Servicemen Excluded
"Did the one hour of tolerance exclude servicemen? Not at all. The army issued the order that servicemen should not be served during that hour." (The mayor issued a similar order, which LaGuardia did not mention.)

"Why was the curfew request made in Washington?" he asked. "I do not know. I have not found anyone in Washington who seems to know."

"Will the United States government invoke sanctions as mentioned in the request of the War Manpower Commission? Judging from administrative of other executive orders, I doubt it very much."

Outlook in Other Cities
"Are other cities carrying out the curfew request? I leave it to the people of other cities to look around and judge for themselves."

LaGuardia said New York City was different from any other city in the country in that it was much bigger—twice the size of Chicago, ten times the size of Boston, nine times the size of St. Louis—and in that its chief amusement and hotel district is crowded within a small area in midtown Manhattan.

He said the curfew request of War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes caused a "terrific jam at midnight," that his own suggestion of an hour of tolerance would relieve the situation by stringing out the exodus from hotels, restaurants and places of amusements "in such a way as to reduce the one big vehicular and pedestrian jam."

3,000,000 Japs To Be Evacuated From Tokyo Area

Supplies Distributed for Mass Move from Dangerous Section

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22 (AP)—The evacuation of nearly 3,000,000 air raid victims from Tokyo—one of the greatest mass civilian evacuations of the war—is in progress in the bomb-torn Nipponese capital. The Japanese radio indicated Thursday.

A Domei, Japanese news agency, broadcast recorded by the FCC said home minister Shigeo Odachi told a diet committee that Tokyo probably had less than 4,000,000 inhabitants now, with more to leave. The city's prewar population before the war was around 7,000,000, making it the third largest in the world.

May Isolate Millions
The prospect of population centers of Japan being isolated by an American invasion was raised as the government speeded steps to organize a civilian national, or "special-attack," corps.

Gen. Kaneshiro Shibayama, vice minister of war, was quoted by Tokyo radio as telling a diet committee the corps would be on a national scale, so that "every member of the nation may be assigned appropriate defense duty in case of emergency."

Premier Kuniaki Koiso was quoted as telling the diet—in reply to a question raising the possibility the homeland "may be split apart by the enemy"—that an "area-by-area defense structure" was being set up.

Supplies Distributed
Minister of Agriculture and Commerce Toshio Shimada reported rice, wheat and sweet potatoes had already been distributed and stored in "great quantities." He declared: "There is nothing to worry about for the present even if, by chance, the homeland is split up."

Revercomb Backs Yalta Plan for Organization

BALTIMORE, Md., March 22 (AP)—Senator Revercomb (R-WV) denounced tonight the partitioning of small nations but commended the voting plan for an international organization announced after the Yalta conference.

"I do not subscribe and cannot subscribe to the partitioning or breaking up of any people who have established their homes within the boundary of the nation they call their own," Revercomb said in a speech prepared for the Chizuk Amuno Brotherhood.

Makes Position Plain
"If these people desire to receive the protection of another sovereignty, that is one question, but if they desire to retain their own, I cannot find any compliance with the idea of protection of small nations in planning that a smaller nation be partitioned at the request of a larger one."

Discussing the voting plan, which he described as meaning that one of the five great powers might prevent the use of force or material pressure against any country, Revercomb called it "practical."

"Surely," he said, "it is a recognition of the fact that there is no certainty of keeping peace if any strong nation desires to go to war. As a practical conclusion, it is inescapable that peace in the world will be kept only so long, and only so long as the strong armed nations in the world desire that peace shall be kept."

Likes Russian Proposal
"It seems to me, therefore, that the method of vote adopted at the instance of Russia, who first brought up the subject after the Dumbarton Oaks conference, is the only sound, practical method, if a plan is adopted that involves even the suggestion of the use of force."

But he cautioned:

"Whatever plan we adopt, the voice thereof of America must be the voice of her people through her established government. Otherwise, we would surrender the only way that America knows how to speak."

From Western Burma to the hideouts of Japan's sorely battered fleet in the Indian sea. The swooping planes, land or carrier based, were obviously paying the way for something, but for just what Tokyo could not certainly tell.

Tokyo broadcasts give certain evidence of the invasion forces running high in Japan. The same fear is dominating Japanese army commanders in French Indo-China. It

Hunt Promised Land:

Fourteen Members of Family Leave Farm When "Ordered by God"

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., March 22 (AP)—In search of a promised land on instructions they believe transmitted to them by God through a 14-year-old son, fourteen members of a family have abandoned virtually all worldly possessions, including a farm, and come to the rugged, bad lands along the Rio Grande.

Camped for several days deep in the cactus-covered land, scene of many a gun battle between smugglers and officers, the family now has established itself along the old military highway from Brownsville to Los Indos, awaiting "the people" to come and hear their message.

The family is that of Floyd Edward Denham Sr., and includes his wife, four sons, seven daughters and a 2-year-old granddaughter. Their "Messiah" is a 14-year-old son who claims to receive messages from God and to be able to relay them only through one sister.

Guided by "Voice of God"
Several weeks ago the Denhams left Independence, Mo., in two automobiles and a trailer. Their guides, they said, were a highway map and "the voice of God."

In departing they abandoned a home and small plot of ground at Independence and a 120-acre farm with considerable equipment.

On a window of the abandoned home is written in red paint:

"This is the Lord's home. Anyone can live here if it is his will."

The family told this strange story of its migration to officers who investigated after the camp was found by vaqueros and a cowboy constable. When the 14-year-old son announced he was receiving messages from God but could relay them only through one sister the girl promptly gave up her job in an airplane factory. Soon the family was told in a "message" they must abandon their worldly possessions and go to the promised land to preach the "word."

Abandon Possessions
They abandoned their possessions, including $1500 in money, checks and war bonds and taking only $500 and the two cars, set forth. They followed no set route, one of

Famous "T Men"
Tracing Income Tax Violations

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP)—The treasury disclosed today that its famous "T men" are cracking up on free-wheeling spenders in big-time pleasure resorts to determine whether they have paid their income taxes.

Officials said that Elmer Irey, chief co-ordinator of treasury enforcement activities (that's the T-men), picked up $50,000 of delinquent taxes in a few days in Miami, Fla.

His contributors, they said, were persons who hastened to pay up "forgotten taxes."

Irey is the man whose sleuthing brought Scarface Al Capone to grief based in the roaring days of gangsterism—for forgetting his taxes.

Now he and his agents are after other people suspected of having income they haven't bothered to report—some of them, perhaps, because it came from such frowned-upon practices as black marketing.

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau told a news conference today the department is not after small fry—"I am interested in the fellow with the suite of big rooms and the lush boys."

Draft of State Guard Asked by Senator Shipley

Induction of Maryland Men Advocated at Annapolis

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 22 (AP)—Induction of men into the Maryland state guard to bring its non-commissioned strength up to the normal 3,500 was proposed in a bill introduced today by Senator Shipley (R-Carroll).

Shipley, captain of the Carroll county state guard company, said he believed it was the only way to keep the state guard at sufficient strength to meet possible home front emergencies, while Delegate Burkins (D-Harford), chairman of the House Militia committee, said flatly the guard was below safe operating strength in cases of crisis.

Gives Power to Governor
The bill, which was sent to the Senate Militia committee, specified that the governor would be "authorized and directed, under such regulations as he deems proper, to order such number of the male citizens of the state, without regard to age, to serve in the state guard or the reserve militia (minute men), and he may, by regulations, prescribe the duties to be performed by each."

At Baltimore, Brig. Gen. Dwight H. Mohr, state guard commander, said the complement now is about 2,800 men, compared with the normal figure of 3,500 and commented that there had been a turnover of 11,000 men in the guard during the last three years.

Mohr Silent on Draft
General Mohr said he preferred not to comment on the guard draft proposal, referring questions on it to the "commander in chief" Governor O'Connor.

General Mohr also said that while some companies were low in strength, none were so seriously short that they could not function. He also remarked that the situation is much better now than it was six months ago.

Despite the recent recruitment campaign in which Major General Philip Hayes, commanding general of the Third Service Command; Governor O'Connor, Brigadier General Dwight H. Mohr, head of the state guard, and other state officials participated, "not one new man has come into my company," Burkins added.

He commented "I don't know what happened" to the 525 men he said Mohr had reported were recruited in the campaign.

Shipley said his own company now has about fifty men, whereas its normal strength is sixty-eight. Four more are due for induction into the army this week, he added, and replacements are imminent.

Some companies, Burkins commented, are down to thirty-five or forty men, and at no time could the full membership be called into service because many of them are engaged in important war jobs which would have prior claim on their time.

The bill specified no draft or induction formula to be followed but would leave these details up to the governor.

Shipley said that the governor was in favor of a similar measure which failed of passage at the 1943 session, but understood he now was against it.

Yank Casualties Heavy on Rhine

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP)—The cost of the army's drive to seize the west bank of the Rhine river began to show up today in the casualty reports.

After more than a month during which the weekly increase in reported casualties grew progressively smaller, the army and navy released figures showing a rise of 19,998. The army accounted for 18,223 of the increase.

Undersecretary of War Patterson, listing army losses of 767,680 said the report covered the fighting during the latter part of February. It was at that time that the First and Ninth armies jumped off from the Roer river line in their final push to the Rhine.

Coupled with the navy's casualties of 91,907, the army figure pushed the over-all casualties since Pearl Harbor to 859,587.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 22 (AP)—A Senate sub-committee reported today it had found an "improper" collection of funds was made in the State Police department after the 1943 General Assembly but that there was not "the slightest evidence or even suggestion" that the money was for any legislator.

"A few misguided individuals took up this collection in the State Police department," the formal report stated, "and now, we submit, they

40th Division Doughboys Take Guimaras Isle

By JAMES HUTCHESON

MANILA, Friday, March 23 (AP)—Fortieth division doughboys, invaders of Panay, hopped across a mile and one-half strait and seized twenty-five-mile-long Guimaras island without opposition Wednesday in a move to safeguard the shipping lane into the captured port of Iloilo.

Heavy bombers, meanwhile, lashed Cebu island with 240 tons of explosives in three successive days.

Helps Form Harbor
Mountainous Guimaras is directly opposite Iloilo and helps form one of the best harbors and seaplane bases in the Central Philippines.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported this twenty-seventh island invasion of the Philippines in his communique today, announcing only that "in a shore-to-shore operation our troops seized Guimaras island, southeast of Panay."

The heavy bombing of Cebu island, across the Camotes sea from Leyte, was concentrated on Japanese bivouac and supply areas in the vicinity of Cebu city, midway along the island's east coast.

Many Fires Observed
"Many explosions and fires were observed," the communique said. Meanwhile naval P-T boats patrolling the Cebu coast by night sank several enemy small craft and navy rocket-firing planes sank a midge submarine off Cebu city.

Patrol bombers ranging the blockade of China sea sank or damaged twelve small freight vessels and four landing craft.

General advances on all ground fronts on Luzon were reported. Forward elements of the Thirty-third division, probing closer to Baguio from the west, reached the Naguilan river and an airfield at the outskirts of the Philippine summer capital.

In Southern Luzon, the One Hundred and Fifty-eighth regimental combat team drove into the environs of Cuenca, southeast of Lake Taal, and cut the main road east of the town.

8,000 Allied Planes
Launch Record Raids

LONDON, Friday, March 23 (AP)—More than 8,000 American and British planes gave Germany its greatest day of dark lashing yesterday, concentrating particularly on Nazi defenses east of the Rhine, and last night RAF Mosquitos maintained the terrific pressure by bombing Berlin for the Thirty-first consecutive time.

The German radio declared that at least four other formations of night raiders were on the prowl over Western Germany, the Hannover-Hildesheim area, Munster and the province of Bavaria.

Ordered To Evacuate
STOCKHOLM, March 22 (AP)—The German high command, jittery over the prospects of an Allied invasion of Denmark, has ordered Danish authorities to evacuate a number of cities on the east coast of Jutland by April 15, the Free Danish press reported today.

Some witnesses said they thought the get together was for the Senate and House of Delegates; some thought it was for the Legislative Council.

Both Americans And British To Open New Attack

Montgomery Launches
Heavy Barrage as Pal-ton Masses Tanks

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

PARIS, March 22 (AP)—Two United States armies crushed all major resistance west of the Rhine today in the last phase of a battle that cost the Germans 100,000 captives alone, and the enemy said the river barrier was about to be stormed both from the Palatinate and opposite the Ruhr, which was blasted by thousands of Allied warplanes.

One German report said Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third army had massed 300 regular and amphibious tanks and strong engineering and motorized units for a smash into the mountainous inner core of the Reich.

British Open Barrage
Another declared that Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery had opened a thunderous artillery barrage to screen a Rhine crossing west of Wesel, adding to destruction wrought by the thousands of warplanes which throughout the day sowed ruin through the Ruhr valley.

Third army strategists now were free to plan the crossing of the Rhine, for possibly no more than 4,000 German effectives remained in action west of the stream after one of the worst disasters ever visited on German armies.

Written off were the great Rhine cities of Mainz and Ludwigshafen, where resistance folded during the day and the few defenders were chased into corners from which there were no retreat, with the Rhine bridges blown.

Kesseling in Command
Field Marshal Albert Kesseling has succeeded Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt, foremost Prussian strategist, as commander of all enemy forces on the western front. It was stated at Montgomery's headquarters that Kesseling gained stature among the Nazis because of his stubborn defense in Northern Italy.

The United States First Army moved into position to outflank the Ruhr from the south, increasing its hold on the Rhine's east bank to 31 miles and deepening its bridgehead to nine miles.

The First army now held nine miles of the south bank of Sieg river northeast of Bonn within a dozen miles of the Ruhr's south rim and was ready to hurdle the minor river barrier and strike northward.

(The American Broadcasting station in Europe said in a broadcast heard by NBC that the Yanks had crossed the Sieg and captured Siegburg, city of 20,000.)

Southward the First army bridgehead extended to within seven and a half miles of Coblenz, on westbank, where the Third army sits in firm control.

Germans Show Alarm
German broadcasts admitted that the bridgehead had been mushroomed until now it had achieved "tactical importance and might well form the south jaw to Montgomery's northern pincer. The enemy said Montgomery had tremendous forces poised ready to strike."

Third army banners floated over 100 miles of the Rhine's west bank from Ludwigshafen to Coblenz, and racing armor was five miles from Speyer and nineteen from Karlsruhe, the two main road heads for the battered German band—all that remains of two German armies once more than 100,000 strong.

The German defense lines crumpled early today in Mainz, which fanatic SS troops had tried to turn into an island of resistance in a sea of almost unsurpassed destruction.

They had impressed police and firemen and unlimbered anti-tank and self-propelled guns and held out for two days, but the Ninetieth division shattered their lines with an early morning barrage of great ferocity and then broke through.

By mid-afternoon Mainz was more than seventy-five per cent cleared and the Germans had been driven back into the old town, which covers only a small area in the heart of the city.

Draft Calls May Drop July 1

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP)—Draft calls may drop an average of thirty-one per cent after July 1, the White House disclosed today coincident with a House Military committee vote to extend the draft law without change.

President Roosevelt, sending up a request to Congress for $54,500,000 to finance Selective Service and other fiscal year, said this contemplated an average draft call of 93,000 a month.

This compares with a figure of 135,000 which Map. Gen. Stephen Henry told the House committee is the expected average from now until June.

OPA Gets Blame For Shortage of Meat in Stores

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP)—Congressional groups heard complaints from the range country and packing houses today that there is plenty of meat on the hoof but that government policies keep it off legitimate buyers' tables.

A retailer said "meateasies" are getting more and more of the steaks and roasts to sell on the fly.

The congressman also got this rejoinder from the Office of Price Administration. Prices and subsidies have been adjusted to costs and the trade generally is coming out pretty well.

Places Blame on OPA

Said Rep. Barrett (D-Wyo) at a meat inquiry called by Rep. Sundstrom (R-N.J.) "we've got 10,000,000 excess cattle now out in the west and there's no reason at all why there should be a meat shortage. OPA is to blame."

In the same unofficial meeting with industry and government spokesmen, A. L. Erickson, chief of all types of livestock ceilings have been adjusted to compensate for increased costs.

The more formal proceedings before the Senate Banking committee which is considering extension of the price control act beyond June 30, brought out these observations:

Supply Increasing

From Arthur L. Winn, counsel for the National Independent Meat Packers Association, an organization of smaller slaughterers—the "below cost price policy of OPA on beef is denying the country a large increase in the beef supply."

From Chester Bowles, price administrator—the new revision of slaughter subsidies should put beef packers in "reasonably good" shape.

The Sundstrom hearing wound up with the New Jersey Republican announcing that he still is hunting an adequate answer to his question. "What has been done by OPA to increase supplies of meat to retailers?"

Some banking committee members indicated equal dissatisfaction. Senator Murdock (D-Ariz) called the situation "muddled" and Senator Robey (R-NH) asked Winn and Bowles, "how can we senators determine the facts?"

Winn asserted that the OPA itself acknowledges its wholesale beef ceilings force packers to take a loss, but contends they can make it up on pork. Actually, he said, they lose on both.

The new subsidy adjustment, Winn said, would require many packers "to pay one dollar to get fifty cents."

GOP Club Secures 43 New Members

Forty-three more new members have been enrolled in the Young Men's Republican Club of Cumberland, in the current drive bringing the membership of the organization to 285.

Announcement was made at Wednesday night's meeting that the membership campaign will continue until April 24 when a banquet will be held at the All Ghan Shrine Country Club with Mayor Theodore R. McKelvin of Baltimore as the principal speaker.

LISTEN, WORLD!

—By Elsie Robinson
(Registered U. S. Patent Office)

HANDS OFF!

She's a fine mother—loving, intelligent, utterly unselfish. And completely bewildered as only a fine mother can be. Reason? Two little tykes whom she has raised with devoted care "by the finest standards." So far so good. But now they are six and ten and where do they go from here?

"My husband and I," she says, "have had but one aim—to mold our boys into fine men, fit to do their part in a nobler world. And while they were infants the way seemed plain. We gave them plenty of wholesome fun but kept them entirely away from inferior people and situations. But now they must go to school and are bound to meet many children and conditions which we cannot approve of. It does not seem fair to punish our boys for this yet surely we cannot let them run wild. Have you any suggestions?"

Just one, sister. Leggo!

If you want to prepare your boys for life, let life take a hand. More youngsters have been weakened and warped by over-protective guidance and protection than by all the bars, pool rooms and baby hoodlums on record.

Life is never a polite affair and it's going to be less so by leaps and bounds. A book of etiquette and a hand picked environment are the worst possible preparation for healthy growth. Growing is an untidy business and apt to be demoralizing to the devoted bystander. But the only way to fit a youngster for reality is to push him into it and let him learn his own sporting rules the hard way. And the only proof of your love is to KEEP HANDS OFF.

That doesn't mean letting youngsters run amuck. But it does mean giving them a chance to choose their own associates and make their own decisions and size up the consequences. You shudder—you're thinking of those dreadful juvenile delinquency cases. But wholesome freedom does not lead to the juvenile court. To the contrary it's the only safe assurance against such a fate. The youngster who is never allowed to make up his own mind or size up his own situations will be a mental and moral cripple for life. He may not become a hit and run driver nor a gambler nor a marionette addict but he'll become a spineless sissy—a choice victim for any bully he may meet along life's highway.

Much criticism has been made of our American system of child training. It's said and truly that our youngsters, particularly our boys, are under too much feminine influence from the time they enter kindergarten until the day they graduate from high. During these years the accent is on culture and carefulness but culture and carefulness can be as dangerous as rowdiness if carried to extremes.

The boy of 14 who hasn't learned to give and take, who doesn't know how to decide when he's caught in a jam, who's unprepared for the inevitable roughness and coarseness of reality, is going to be a mangled mess when he's 40. He will either be tied to his wife's apron strings or pushed by her into the divorce court.

Stop worrying, lady, and let life take a hand. You need not fear the results. Have you seen the youngsters who are coming back on their first furlough from training camps? A year ago they were gangling, hesitating, bewildered brats. Today they are clear eyed, firm chinned huskies, able to defend themselves and their country, a credit to the mothers and fathers who sent them away with aching hearts. Sooner or later your youngsters must go too, if not to war, at least into reality. Don't let them go with shackled ankles and malnourished with power. Dare to let them live.

Beatrice Fairfax Urges War Wife To Forgive Mate

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

"Could there be a more unhappy girl than I?" writes Alma C., a young wife whose husband has just been sent home from Italy, badly wounded. Let us consider her story.

"He seems hardly himself," she says, "he has suffered so terribly. But he has been beautifully taken care of and his operation was successful and now every day he is getting better and after he gets well, his wound won't be a serious handicap, they tell me. So I suppose he could go back to work again, at least after the war is over, and he and I with our two children, could have more or less the kind of life we used to have."

"Only I am afraid it could never be the same. George has told me about the violent flirtation he had with an Italian girl in Southern Italy. He hasn't spared me anything. And he says he wouldn't blame me if I got a divorce. Only, now that he is back again and has seen the children and me, he doesn't love the Italian girl any more but he loves me as much as ever."

"Shall I believe him? Can I trust a man who couldn't be faithful to me for a few months, even? Can things ever be the same between us?"

"Of course I can't help being sorry for him when I see him lying in bed weak and pale and helpless. But my suffering is something to be considered too. And I have a lawyer cousin who would attend to everything for me if I get a divorce. If I only knew what to do!" (Signed) ALMA C."

"My dear child, forgive him. It's evident that you still love him, or you wouldn't suffer so much. Divorce, which would deprive you of a husband and your children of a father, would in this case be the wrong course to take. Here home there will be nothing to mind the soldier of his Italian experience. It will all be blotted out. You will be the reality. And I believe that when he gets well, things can be the same as ever between you."

So try to forget all that you've been through. I'm sure there is still happiness ahead for you.

Two Men Are Held In Robbery Case For Grand Jury

By LUKE McDOWELL
KEYSER, W. Va., March 22—
Lawrence Elliott, Oakmont, a mining village near Elk Garden, and Henry Jones, Kitzmiller, are being held for the grand jury for the confessed robbery of the home of Mrs.
George Sayers, Oakmont. The robbery occurred sometime last week while Mrs. Sayers was in Baltimore visiting her husband who is with the merchant marines.

Upon her return home Saturday she found her home stripped of practically all moveable furnishings; bedclothing, clothing, silverware, a radio and numerous other articles, running into a value of several hundred dollars.

James A. Dixon, Mineral-county sheriff, was notified of the robbery and he with State Trooper R. R.
Karrickoff began an investigation. They found evidence indicating that Elliott was implicated or at least knew something of the crime.
He was arrested at his home in Oakmont, Monday, and confessed that he had engaged in the robbery and had sold most of his share of goods taken.

He named Jones who lives in Kitz-miller, as his accomplice. The officers secured search warrants in Oakland and arrested Jones
Tuesday. He confessed his participation in the robbery. He had not sold any of his loot, and confessed that the goods were hidden on Backbone mountain, some distance from his home. He led the officers to the cache.

In recovering what goods Jones had hidden and in locating most of what Elliott had sold, the major portion of the loss has been recovered. Jones waived extradition and returned with the officers to Mineral county to await with Elliott the action of the grand jury which convenes April 17.

ptured Reich wns Peopled stly by Women

By WADE WERNER

Substituting for Kenneth L. Dixon)
D KREUZNACH, Germany, ch 22—(AP)—It is a land of wo-which Patton's armored col-have been overrunning dur-the past few days.

ne tanks have thrown an iron around countless towns and whose inhabitants had no ice to flee, but they seem to be wholly women, a few old and boys only emphasizing the ness of German males.

anks are plentiful and there are y men among liberated foreign kers, trudging or riding trucks ard rear emergency camps. The hundreds of trucks carrying German prisoners rearward roll swiftly through the villages, leaving clouds of dust and the bewildered women.

Women Fill Streets

The preponderance of women was revealed when an AMG detachment arrived in this health resort and vacation center whose normal population is 30,000. The streets were crowded with women silently watching American traffic.

Others gazed woodenly at smouldering fires from the latest bombing by hit and run Luftwaffe raiders.

The AMG commander, Capt. S.
M. Brown, estimated there were still 20,000 people here—mostly women and children, many of whom were evacuees from other bomb-ridden Rhineland cities.

Brown, a former school superintendent, found the fear of the gestapo still strong. The former burgomaster, who had been ousted and jailed by the Nazis, was considered eligible to serve under the military government but could not be persuaded, pleading he was too old. Nevertheless, non-Nazi city officials, a police force and firemen must be found.

Warning by Eisenhower

Eisenhower's proclamation, "we come as conquerors," was going up on the walls. Contrasting ironically with these and the scene of desolation was a poster left by the Nazis:

"With good humor everything becomes easier. Joyous courage will help us through."

While the foreign conquerors and dazed leading citizens held their first conference, just outside of town another discussion was being settled between the Yank armored scout car and a sniper. Sniping hereabouts has dwindled rapidly, however, and the authorities anticipated no special difficulty.

Church Group Holds Joint Meeting

The semi-annual joint meeting of the board of education and workers council of the Centre Street Methodist church was held Tuesday evening in the Bible class room with the Rev. Walter Marion Michael presiding.

Reports were made concerning the Daily Vacation Bible school to be held this summer and Mrs. E. F.
Phillips was appointed chairman of the school. The matter of developing in a larger way the cradle roll department was also discussed and it was decided to visit the mothers of young children and have visitors from the church school to call on the mothers each month.
Mrs. Mamie Willison, superintendent of the children's division of the Sunday school will be in charge of organizing the visits.

Plans were also formulated for the annual students day program which will replace the children's day program. It will be held at 11 o'clock, June 3 and will take the place of the morning worship service. Mrs.
Herbert Platt is chairman of the committee for the program. Her committee includes Miss Marian Rosenmerkel, Mrs. Paul Fletcher,
Mrs. James Leader, Miss Eloise
Gurley and Mrs. James Thayer.

The Rev. Mr. Michael also reported that thirty-six children out of the church school will be confirmed into the church membership on Palm Sunday. He congratulated the council on the class and the splendid progress it has made.

He especially commended the superintendents of the Junior and International departments for the training they had given the children.

Committee Votes To End All Draft Law Restrictions

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP)—Legislation extending the draft law without restrictions won unanimous approval from the House Military committee today.

After hearing only two witnesses—army generals who emphasized the necessity of furnishing fighting replacements until the last enemy has quit—the committee sent the bill to the House floor for a vote probably early next week.

Without the legislation, the Selective Service act under which millions of men have been inducted would become inoperative May 15. The bill approved extends it for another year, or until the end of hostilities, whichever is first.

Heed Army Request

The committee heeded, though reluctantly, the army's request that no restriction be placed on the present policy of putting inductees into combat five months after donning the uniform, if necessary.

Many members had talked of keeping teen-age draftees out of combat until they had been trained a year in this country. They still may seek to write such a provision into the bill on the House floor.

Such a restriction, said Major General Idwal Edwards, assistant chief of staff in charge of training, "very definitely would be harmful" to the orderly system of furnishing fighting men.

General Edwards disclosed to the committee the present training program by which a man can reach a fighting front five months after induction. He told of one man who was a combat casualty "five months and nine days" after entering the service.

Average Six Months

The average training for a green recruit, he added, is about six months for a man going into the European theater and seven months for a man who will fight the Japanese. That time includes a furlough before embarkation and a short waiting period at sea prior to assignment to a combat unit.

Edwards told the committee the army never intended to give twelve months of home training to its combat troops. Any impression Congress had received to that effect during discussion of the teen-age draft bill, he said, was based on a misconception of the testimony.

Major General Stephen G. Henry, assistant chief of staff in charge of personnel, testified that to meet the needs for replacements, draft calls up to June would approximate 100,000 monthly for the army and 35,000 monthly for the navy, with "substantial" replacements thereafter.

Following the defeat of Germany, Henry said, the army plans to release the men who have served the longest, who have been abroad the longest, and who have been subjected to "the severest hardships."

A point-system to govern discharges now is being developed and will be placed in the hands of theater commanders soon.

Two Negro Youths Deny Knowledge of Slaying of Graham

SALISBURY, Md., March 22 (AP)—Two negro brothers denied today all knowledge of the January 12 slaying of an Eastern Shore seafood packer despite four purported confessions offered by the state and admitted in evidence at their trial for murder.

Two more statements were introduced today when State Trooper Samuel Sherwell testified that he and Trooper Thomas Veditz obtained them from Weldon Jones, Jr., 18, and his brother, Holbrook, 15, January 21 at the Harford county jail in Bel Air. Two other statements were introduced yesterday.

The youths, charged with the slaying of I. Raynor Graham, 39, were taken to Bel Air for safekeeping after their arrest January 12 at their home in Chance.

Mt. Savage Fire Company Donates To Pulmotor Fund

By CATHERINE O'Rourke
MT. SAVAGE, March 22—The Mt. Savage Volunteer Fire Company, at a meeting in the fire hall Tuesday evening, made a substantial donation to the fund for the purchase of a pulmotor for use in the community. Purchase of the pulmotor is being sponsored by the Mt. Savage Lions Club and the sum contributed by the fire company is the largest donation to date. The company has not announced the exact amount of the contribution.

The fire company, a comparatively small organization, has been the leader of all patriotic and civic movements in the community since its organization. The company completely financed the erection of the local honor roll for those serving in the armed forces. The town ambulance is operated and kept in condition by the company. The ambulance is at the service of the community night and day. The firemen have led all other groups in donations to Red Cross and war chest drives.

The company had sixty-five active members when the war began and twenty-nine of these members are now in the armed forces and three will leave in the near future. This will make a total of approximately fifty per cent of the membership serving the country.

Mrs. Lashley Dies
Miss Sarah J. Lashley, 70, died this morning at her home here after a lingering illness. A daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lashley, she had resided in Mt. Savage for the past forty years. She was a member of the Mt. Savage Methodist church. Miss Lashley is survived by five brothers, Milton, Benjamin, Ralph, Wayne and Robert Lashley, all of Mt. Savage, and one sister, Mrs. Samuel Frankenberg.

The maple syrup season has been exceptionally poor this year, according to sugar camp owners in this section. Lester Beal, owner and operator of the largest camp in this district, stated today that he has completed his sugar maple production for the year, and the results were the smallest in many years. He said the condition may have been due to the heavy weather during February and the extremely cold temperature. In previous years, Beal shipped maple syrup and maple sugar to a number of out-of-town firms, but he stated that this year he will be unable to fill the orders for even his regular local customers.

Plan Holy Week Series
Holy Week services will begin Sunday in the Mt. Savage Methodist church, with a special Palm Sunday ceremony at 10:45 o'clock in the morning. New members will be received at the service and hymns will be sung by the church choir. The Rev. Harris M. Waters will be in charge. The Rev. T. W. Kemp, pastor of the Ellerslie Methodist church, will be guest speaker at the 7:30 o'clock service Wednesday evening.

Brief Items
A party for the benefit of St. Patrick's Catholic church will be held Friday evening at 8:30 o'clock in the parish hall.

The Jennings Run Council, Junior Order of United American Mechanics, will sponsor a party Saturday evening at 8:30 o'clock in the Junior Order hall.

Laundry Problem Causes Robbery

LOS ANGELES, March 22 (AP)—A laundry problem again plagued Alfred West, 48, admitted to Patrolman James McGrath that he snatched a soldier's barracks bag in a railway station. According to the officers report, West said: "Sure, I snatched the bag. I haven't been able to get my laundry back. I just wanted a clean shirt."

Three Births Reported

Carpenter's Mate Second Class and Mrs. Edward Michael Sell, 525 Greene street, announce the birth of a son in Allegheny hospital Wednesday afternoon. CM2C Sell is stationed in Davisville, R. I. with the Seabees.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hare, 823 Lafayette avenue in Allegheny hospital yesterday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. McMillan, 603 North Centre street, announce the birth of a son in Memorial hospital last evening at 8:21 o'clock.

Widow Ignores Order of Court To Leave Home

Mrs. Karin Offutt, widow of wealthy D. R. Offutt, of Oakland, continued yesterday to ignore a court order directing her to vacate the residence on Second street, and Garrett county authorities said they planned no action in the move to oust her from the mansion.

Civil cases of the March term of circuit court will open Monday at Oakland and the Garrett county authorities said they will wait a decision of the judges.

A court order served March 5 by Deputy Sheriff Juniper S. Teats gave Mrs. Offutt, a school teacher when she and Offutt were married in 1928, until March 20 to vacate the house, but she was still there yesterday and has indicated that she does not intend to comply with the decree, officers reported.

Agreed to Leave
The young widow signed an agreement last August 24 with the trustees of her husband's estate, agreeing to vacate the dwelling within six months. She agreed to leave with her infant son, Daniel E. Offutt III, and she was notified by the trustees January 20 that they desired to have the house by February 25, but she did not answer the request.

The agreement last August ended lengthy litigation over Offutt's estate since the death of the elderly banker on August 20, 1943, and she was to receive $5,000 a year, in addition to $12,500 in a lump sum, and $100 a month for support of the child as long as they occupied the Second street home, or $150 a month if they lived elsewhere.

Returns Checks
The trustees said Mrs. Offutt last week brought back all the checks they had mailed to her since last year, none of them cashed, and said she declared she "didn't know what I was doing" when the agreement was signed.

The checks returned included the $416 monthly payments and the $100 payments for her son, attorneys said. Walter W. Dawson, of Oakland, and William A. Gunter of this city are attorneys for the widow, Nell C. Fraley and W. R. Offutt are trustees of the estate, with E. Ray Jones as their counsel.

Civic Club Seeks Additional Space In City Building

Westernport-Luke Group Requests Second Room for Public Library

By GEORGE W. DADDYSMAN
WESTERNPORT, March 11—Following an appeal by the Westernport and Luke civic club for use of a room on the first floor of the city building, Mayor Milton McIntyre and the commissioners decided last night to postpone their decision until the next meeting.

Mrs. Paul McCoy, spokesman for the club, said that the use of the room is requested as an addition to the public library, which has been housed in the second story of the building since it was organized by the club a number of years ago. She explained that the second room is needed because the library now circulates about 10,000 books yearly.

Stating that it will cost a considerable amount of money to put the room into use as an addition to the library, Mrs. McCoy said that several organizations have been asked to help defray the cost. She asked for financial aid from the town in addition to aid from other sources.

The commissioners ordered that signs be posted prohibiting the dumping of ashes and garbage on town roads, following a complaint by Percy White.

A letter was read at the meeting from William C. Guss, general manager of the Cumberland and Pennsylvania railroad, stating that complaints concerning their railroad crossing here are being investigated.

History of Yarn Manufacture Here Is Apily Titled "Between Two Wars"

Celanese Anniversary Group Unearths Background and Process

"Between Two Wars" might well be the title of the history of synthetic yarn manufacture at the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America.

Information released by the committee of pioneer Celanese employees who are planning to celebrate the twentieth anniversary of synthetic yarn production at the local plant at a dinner to be held at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club, Saturday, April 7, reveals that the production of the first Celanese yarn stemmed from the manufacture of a strategic war material during World War I, and that constant experimentation and expansion have brought forth a host of war and essential civilian products for World War II.

Celulose acetate, the basic material from which most Celanese products are made, had a modest beginning as a fireproofing and tautening material for warplanes during World War I. Then came the development of synthetic fibers from the same material, and modern Celanese was on its way.

Background Is Given

The October, 1928 issue of "Celanese Topics," former publication of the Celanese Athletic Association, a copy of which has been unearthed by the twentieth anniversary committee, contains an article by William Whitehead, research superintendent at the Amcelle plant at that time and now a member of the Celanese New York staff, in which something of the background and process of synthetic yarn manufacture is given.

"Cellulose is classified by the chemist with starch, sugar, etc., as a carbohydrate and exists throughout the vegetable kingdom, forming the skeleton or frame-work of all plant life," writes Mr. Whitehead. "Thus there are innumerable sources of supply: e. g., cotton, wood, grass, and the like."

"A cellulose acetate (cellulose combined suitably with acetic acid) is prepared by special methods," the Whitehead article continues. "This is dissolved in harmless solvents, and a viscous and thick 'dope' is formed. This is filtered and forced through jets into cabinets or chambers through which warm air is constantly drawn. The fine filaments issuing from the jets holes lose their solvent by evaporation in the warm cabinet and fine silky filaments of cellulose acetate remain. These are wound onto bobbins, the resultant yarn needs no other treatment, and is ready for weaving, knitting and all textile uses."

Product Blossoms Out

Basically, the process thus explained is still in use at Celanese. But through the efforts of the main research laboratories, also located at the local plant, the single war product that the Celanese plant was built to manufacture in 1918, has so blossomed out that today the factory produces a yarn for use in the manufacture of parachutes that is stronger by far than cotton, silk, flax, wool or special chemical yarns; another yarn that is used in military communications because of its insulating qualities; and yarn that has been adopted by the medical corps for dental use. Women's uniforms are made from Celanese fabrics, and the lint-free characteristic of the fabrics make them desirable in war industries making precision instruments where the slightest trace of dust or dirt may throw an instrument off balance.

Plastics are closely related to synthetic yarn because both are manufactured from cellulose acetate. Celanese plastics are working for the war effort, being used for the cockpit covering of many of our war planes, and going into the manufacture of gas masks, flashlight cases, pistol grips and rifle stocks, blackout lenses, welders' helmets and shelter screens for war workers.

Army and navy restrictions prevent the mention of some of the most important items that are made from Celanese plastics, but it can be said that many aircraft and ordnance parts, instrument cases, and radio and radar parts have their beginning in the local plant.

Two Local Soldiers Take Nazi Prisoner

Two Cumberland soldiers were in a foxhole on the western front in Europe when a German came to the rim of the foxhole and whispered "where the heck am I?" Without saying a word Pfc. William Lantz, who with Pvt. Gerald Harmon was in the foxhole, reached up and pulled the Nazi and his gun across his shoulder into the foxhole.

"Gimme back my carbine," said the Nazi jokingly, thinking that both Lantz and Harmon were Germans, too. According to a Stars and Stripes clipping it was explained to him that he was an American prisoner, and the Cumberland soldiers took the dispatch from the Nazi that he was carrying from battalion headquarters to his company.

A former B. and O. Railroad employee, Pfc. Lantz is the husband of Mrs. Mary Lantz, Route 4, Pvt. Harmon is the husband of Mrs. Goldie M. Harmon, 324 Cecilia street and is a former Celanese employee.

Legislation establishing or reorganizing personnel programs for public employees has been adopted or is under consideration in a dozen states, the Civil Service Assembly reports.

Pullman Company Given One Year To Sell Servicing Unit

PHILADELPHIA, March 22 (AP)—The United States District Court today granted Pullman, Inc., a year in which to arrange for the sale of its servicing unit or the sale of its $80,000,000 of physical assets.

No ruling was made as to what would be done if the company fails to produce a sales contract within the year.

The court's order enforces its decree of May 8, 1944, which would divorce the sleeping car manufacturing business from the servicing unit of the company but failed to require the company to sell its car manufacturing business if it cannot produce contracts for the sale of the servicing unit within a year.

The court decreed two years ago that Pullman, Inc., and three subsidiaries were violating the Sherman anti-trust act through the joint manufacture and servicing of sleeping cars.

Swedish Writer Finds Berlin in Serious Plight

Editor's note: The writer of the following article, for seventeen years Berlin correspondent of the Swedish newspaper, the Stockholm Tidningen, has just returned to Stockholm.

By CHRISTER JAEDERLUND
(Copyright, 1945 by The Associated Press.)

STOCKHOLM, March 22 (AP)—A train from Bydgoszcz, bearing local Nazi party leaders, recently arrived at a Berlin railway station while thousands of the capital's residents stood outside.

The smartly uniformed leaders, who were the first to leave Bydgoszcz, in Northwestern Poland, as the Red army approached, carried all their luggage and were met by a fleet of motor cars. Their situation contrasted sharply with the misery of other refugees.

The Berliners, spoke their minds. The crowd grew so threatening that the party leaders became nervous and ordered the guards to fire — into the air.

Paid With Their Lives

The affair became so widely known that the leaders had to pay with their lives. They had broken the one condition under which Hitler allows his Nazi comrades liberties at the expense of the population. They had been found out.

These Berlin people were no rabble. Their attitude represented the true feelings of the German nation and they had to be calmed.

Therefore Hitler ordered the execution of the Bydgoszcz party leaders as deserters.

Germany has become a vast refugee camp and the refugee problem is one reason for the cleavage which has developed between the Nazi party, the army and the ordinary civilian.

I saw at first hand an example of this cleavage when I traveled on a refugee train from Sorau, at the Silesian front, to Berlin.

Russian Tanks Arrive

Our train was scheduled to start at 10:30 a. m., and the people of Sorau tried to storm aboard but they were fended off by armed men and policemen who formed a cordon around the station.

Three hours later Russian tanks reached Sorau's outskirts and only then was the evacuation permitted to begin.

The next and last train steamed out at 3:30 p. m., during street fighting. This time the population was allowed to board it freely because the party bosses and police had vanished. The train was three-quarters full of soldiers who were "evacuating" on their own.

The soldiers and the women in the crowd argued heatedly. The women shouted "deserters." The soldiers said that they had no more ammunition.

Refugees Show Anger

I never have heard such bitter criticism of the party as when our group of refugees joined others from different sectors after we had reached trains.

"Naturally," said one, "the party men loaded their property into moving vans and drove off. We were forbidden to pack at all and at the last moment had to escape across the fields as best we could."

The refugees also were bitter against the German soldiers who, they all said, plundered German towns.

A peasant said German soldiers thought he was too slow in leaving his own home, and literally threw him out in order to be the first to loot it.

Most of the refugees were agreed that if the defeated German armies were swept into a state of disintegration then no one would be safe in his own home. Most German soldiers, after six years of army life, have no home to which to return.

The whole course of the evacuation...

Whenever Uncle Sam springs a big invasion the battleship Texas can be spotted standing off shore with all guns blazing away. She was there for the D-day operations against the shores of Normandy and Southern France. And more recently she was among those present at the capture of Iwo Jima. In all three operations a Cumberland Marine, Pvt. Charles "Pete" Berryman, had a "Texas-eye" view of events ashore as a member of the battleship's crew.

In a recent letter home, Pvt. Berryman wrote that the Texas landed two Jima for three days before the marines landed, and then on D-day stood off the beach and poured tons of explosive steel into the island.

"For three days," Pvt. Berryman wrote, "we watched Mt. Suribachi, trying to follow the Marines advance up its crazy side. Then suddenly on the third day, there she was, Old Glory on the highest peak of the mountain. I guess I've seen the American flag hundreds of times before, but I don't think it ever looked as good as it did there on top of Mt. Suribachi."

Pvt. Berryman is the son of Melvin R. Berryman, 617 South street, and of the late Helen C. Berryman.

11-Ton Bomb Destroys Small Granite Island

LONDON, March 22 (AP)—The RAF's new eleven-ton "volcano" bomb literally destroyed a small granite island off the British coast in its first test, the magazine Aeroplane said today.

Describing the bomb, now in use on Germany, the magazine said: "Its first tests were conducted on a remote and uninhabited granite island off the British coast... release of the bomb was followed almost immediately by a colossal explosion and when the large smoke cloud, characteristic of the new bomb, disappeared the island was conspicuous by its absence."

Through it runs the slender and vulnerable Nipponese communications line linking her armies in China with Burma, Malaya and the Dutch Indies.

Formosa, the Japanese China sea Gibraltar, got another blasting. Tokyo said. There was Japanese word for it, too, that the great task force from which navy bombers caught nearly a score of war craft at moorings in inland sea harbors, was moving southwestward again, perhaps to strike into the center of the Ryukyu chain of islands.

Those Ryukyu islands certainly figure in American naval plans for the early if not immediate future. They form a screen across the wide mouth of the East China sea.

The Ryukyus cover like a blanket all approaches from the south to sea traffic that flows between Nagasaki and other parts in Southern Japan and Shanghai.

while others thought it was just for certain members of the legislature.

The report was handed to the Finance committee during a Senate recess and was accepted. The sub-committee, headed by Senator Bauer (D-Balto 1st) was discharged "with thanks."

The money was spent by the "stakeholder" and two other members of the force on "one member of the House of Delegates." They met at Ocean City while on a short vacation, the report set forth, adding that "all the parties agree that the member of the legislature knew nothing of the entertainment fund, or that any such money was being spent on him."

The legislator's name or those of the three troopers were not mentioned in the report, and Bauer said that no additional information beyond the text of the report was laid before the finance committee.

"We think now is the time to bring a halt to this entire practice of collecting in any State department wherever it exists. We concede the right to contribute for flowers for the deceased, or fruit for the sick, or for a member leaving for the armed forces, etc., but we think it is improper to contribute for presents for superior officers and definitely wrong for entertainment or dinners for the General Assembly or any members of that body," the report continued.

Liquor Motion Lanes
Delegate Dick (R-Allegany), asked that his bill reorganizing the county liquor laws be submitted for an unfavorable report of the county delegation, which opposed it, 5 to 1, on a roll call, the motion lost, 66-21.

A dozen house members entered a fight on a bill that would authorize the University of Maryland board of regents to condemn certain land in Prince George's county and Baltimore city for expansion of the institution after Delegate Baynes asked that it be recommitted to the Ways and Means committee. The committee had given the bill a favorable report.

Baynes said the bill would give Dr. H. S. (Curly) Byrd, president of the university, more powers than the governor—the powers of a czar. The recommittal move failed on a voice vote.

The disputed judges' bill would raise the salary of the chief justice of the court of appeals to $16,000 per year and use of other appellate court members to $15,000. The base pay for the highest state court now is $11,500.

Circuit court judges would be boosted from $8,500 to $10,000.

"these judges be compensated in a manner equal to what they are giving to the State of Maryland."

Citing increased living costs, and predicting that the appellate justices would in the future have to spend "most of their time" in Annapolis, thus maintaining virtually two residences, Lindsay pleaded that "the purpose to improve the caliber of men on our courts, set forth in the general court reform two years ago," be continued by approving the pay raises.

Questions for Lawyers
Senator Kimble questioned him whether it was not unconstitutional for elected state officers to accept pay increases during their term, to which Lindsay replied by saying that this matter would have to be dealt with by constitutional lawyers, but that he did not think it was.

He wrapped the constitution around them as a shield years ago to word of the tax collectors," Kimble said, "holding during the depression years when the state was in desperate need for money to feed the hungry that their income could not be taxed. I say that if we cannot cut their salary, neither should we raise them."

Previously, Senator Wilmer (R-Charles) another leader in the floor battle against the measure, spoke against the "pressure group" which he said was "hovering about the Senate" even while the debate was in progress and drawing some senators into "the antechambers."

He exhorted the Senate not to submit to this "great pressure group," saying that although they (the senators) might not be "great lawyers, surely we are common sense men."

LaSalle Rallies in Final Period To Top Fairfield in Tournament

Explorers Fail to Display Top Form in Winning 34-28; Locals Face Prep School Five Tonight

NEWPORT, R. I., March 22 (AP)—Displaying the fastest passing attack ever shown here by schoolboys, LaSalle high school of New York City tonight set a new team record defeating Central Catholic High of Pittsburgh 34-28 in the first round of the annual Eastern Catholic Inter-scholastic Basketball Tournament.

NEWPORT, R. I., March 22—The LaSalle High Explorers of Cumberland, Md., opened defense of the Eastern States Catholic scholastic tournament championship here this afternoon by coming from behind in the last period to defeat Fairfield (Conn.) Prep cagers, 34-28.

Coach Art Slocum's Explorers failed to display their best form. Their passing and shooting were erratic and only some last-period fireworks pulled the game out of the fire for the Marylanders.

Tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the semi-finals, the LaSalle crew will meet the classy LaSalle Military Academy quint of Oakdale, L. I., which humbled Trenton (N. J.) Boys' Catholic high, 38-42, in the first-round today.

Oakdale, a prep school, is represented by a team of high school graduates and the fact that it was invited to the tournament has caused quite a bit of comment here.

Tourney Record Falls
Phil Kenny, LaSalle Military guard who played with DeLaSalle of Newport, last season, today broke the one-game tourney record by scoring thirty points. His total erased the mark set a year ago by Tom Doyle, of Wheeling (W. Va.) Central Catholic. Doyle's record was twenty-seven points.

The Oakdale five also equalled the team record set last year by Wheeling Central Catholic.

LaSalle Military's lineup also includes Jacob Borheimer, who was with St. Peter's high, of New Brunswick, N. J., last season. The Explorers topped St. Peter's here last year in the first round.

Oakdale appears to have just too much of everything for the Marylanders, but Coach Slocum believes if his boys can get back on the beam, they stand a chance of winning.

The Explorers missed their first seven shots at the basket in their tourney lid-lifter with Dailey, Fairfield guard, opening the scoring after three minutes with a long one. McBride retained for Fairfield and with a minute remaining, Muller counted with a one-hand push shot from the foul lane and Tommy "T-Bone" Geatz converted a foul, making it 9-4 at the quarter.

LaSalle, midway in the second period, had increased its lead to 14-4 but the next minute of play saw Fairfield narrow the gap to four.

LaSalle Takes 9-4 Lead
"Ray Shaffer, who with Carl Muller sparked the LaSalle attack, tied it up with a basket from in close and then Muller connected with a one-hander from the left to give the Explorers the lead with 2:45 to go. Durocher To Play For Fifteen Days At $66.66 a Day

At $66.66 a Day In Detroit Hopes

Dodger Manager Has Nothing To Lose Except Few Extra Pounds

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)—Branch Rickey has offered Manager Leo Durocher $1,000 if he will play in the first fifteen Brooklyn Dodgers games this year, possibly figuring that there is some profit in that.

Or that the club can hold out, for that matter. In fact, that's the only kind of holdout that worries him this year.

Anyway, Durocher promptly accepted the challenge. After all, he has nothing to lose, aside from a few extra pounds, and the dogs don't bark so much around second base. That's where he's figuring on playing, and for a shortstop to move over to second base is the same as a mail-man to switch to dish-washing. He might be on his feet 14 years but wouldn't cover as much territory.

A thousand bucks for fifteen games sounds like a lot of money, and it isn't exactly pence wages. Let's break down the $1,000 Leo will get if he fifteen days don't get him. It won't be necessary to break down $1,000. Twenty years in the game have taken care of that pretty well.

$33.33 An Hour
Roughly, it figures as $66.66 a game, and estimating a game at two hours, that means $33.33 an hour. For an eight-hour day that would be $266.64, and for a five-day week it would be $1,333.20. Gosh, the guy it getting rich.

Naturally that is an unfair way of figuring, as the time a ball player actually is playing in a game is less than half of the time he really works at his trade, figuring spring training, daily workouts prior to the game, and all.

In fact, aside from the pitchers, who work only about every four days or so anyway, the players do more work for a game than they do playing it. Those infield workouts and the shagging of flies give them a lot more exercise than they get in the game.

A second baseman, for instance, might be considered to be doing a good day's work if he accepted eight chances during a game and took his licks four times at the plate, with incidental running of bases if he was lucky.

He handles the ball much more than that between pitches, and between outs as the infielders try to burn each other's gloves off to show how much pepper they have.

Allowed Pinch Hitters
If Durocher could dispense with the infield practice he probably could last out the fifteen days nicely, with a day or two to spare, as he could play sort of a standing guard out there at second, and if the balls were hit a few feet to the right or left of him, to heck with them.

He also has another out, as Rickey is permitting him to put in a pinch hitter for himself at his own discretion. He could make himself leadoff man and decide he needed a pinch hitter before he came to bat the first time. That way he'd only have to play half an inning at home and not at all on the road.

He'd put himself in the lineup and scratch himself for a pinch hitter before the game started.

However, we think the holler guy will give it everything he's got as long as he can, and slowed up as he is, will be an asset out there. He'll keep everybody else on their toes if he can't play on his own.

Nicholson To Report
To Cubs Next Week
FRENCH LICK, Ind., March 22 (AP)—Manager Charlie Grimm, of the Chicago Cubs, received word today that Outfielder Bill Nicholson, leading home run hitter and scorer of the National League, would report early next week. Nicholson, 29, had delayed signing pending clearance of the manpower situation. The Cubs' training field remains flooded, but Grimm hopes to use it by Sunday.

Buc Regulars Win
Behind "Rip" Sewell
MUNCIE, Ind., March 22 (AP)—"Rip" Sewell uncorked his famed "blower" ball for the Pittsburgh Pirates today and was credited with his first win of the season. The Regulars beat the Yankees, 6-4, in an eight-inning intra-squad tilt.

Sewell, who gave up four hits, also contributed a double and a single. Preacher Roe allowed three hits and Art Cuccurello, two. Nick Strincevich, pitching for the losers, yielded seven of thirteen hits.

Diplomats Bow 34-23; Pirates Top Big Five in Consolation Tilt

The Revenuers and South End Markets, who finished one-two in the Midget Basketball League race, will battle it out tonight at 8:30 on the SS. Peter and Paul school court in the finals of the loop's championship playoff series.

Last night, the Revenuers reached the finals by disposing of the Diplomats, 34-23. South End turned back the Pirates in the first round and drew a bye to the finals.

In the consolation round, the Pirates defeated the Roeder Big Five, 35-29, last night, and will tangle with the Diplomats this evening at 7:30 for consolation honors.

The Revenuers got away to a 7-3 lead in the first quarter but the Diplomats spurred in the second period to split by only one point, 13-12, at the half. After three sessions, the Revenuers held a 21-16 advantage. Ken Bazell, Bob Mattingly and Snyder paced the winners, the former getting five field goals and Snyder and Mattingly each four. Britton Shaffer sparked the Diplomats with ten tallies.

The Big Five and Pirates, losers in opening-round competition, staged a close game all the way with the Roeders taking an 11-9 lead in the first period. The Bucs forged to the front in the following heat for a 21-14 margin at the half and (Continued on Page 15, Col. 2)

46 Boys Report for Spring Grid Drills at Allegany High School

46 Boys Report for Spring Grid Drills at Allegany High School

Spring football practice began this week at Allegany high school with Coach Walter L. "Bill" Bowers giving out forty-six uniforms.

Drills began Monday and already the squad has reached the scrimmage stage. Bowers reported last night. The Camper mentor said that he plans to keep the boys out for two more weeks. So far, he has been stressing fundamentals with short scrimmages topping off each session.

We'll stick to the "T". Bowers said after being asked what kind of system the Camperers are using. Ever since the "T" formation was introduced at Allegany by Herman Blair a number of years ago, the West Siders have had successful eleven.

Four boys who were regulars last fall will be eligible the coming season but only two have been working out. End Bill Bartlett is working out but probably will report before the training period is over, and Tackle Linbergh Cook is nursing a shoulder injury received in basketball and will pass up spring practice.

Vic Auville, first-string tackle in 1944, may be shifted to end, Bowers said. Bruce Anderson, fullback last fall, is taking part in the workouts but he expects to be called by the air corps sometime this summer and may not be available when the season rolls around.

Other lettermen on the squad are Robert Tabor, guard; Berkey Smith, center; Herman Myers, end; Eugene Brant, tackle, and Bob Price, quarterback.

As for the comparatively small percentage we can expect to return for college competition, the all-important competitive spark may be missing. These men may find gridiron play time in comparison with their war experiences.

Bierman himself will look to incoming freshmen as his principal source of material.

"But," he added, "I'll sure be glad to see any of the old gang back."

Haegg Will Try To Run 4:12 Mile

CLEVELAND, March 22 (AP)—Under Haegg, the Swedish swift, aim at a 4:12 mile and the first of his 1945 American tour his fourth board track appearance tomorrow night at the Knights Columbus games.

Although still far from peak condition, a 4:12 figure would enable Haegg to clip nineteen seconds off his record of 4:31 he posted in Madison Square Garden three weeks ago. He is finishing twelve feet behind Jimmy Rafferty at Chicago last night.

Steinwall, Haegg's trainer on tour, predicted his charge would make 4:12 "provided the other runners in the vents co-operate—that don't stall around jockeying for positions early in the race. I think he has done exceptionally well thus far, considering he has competed in only three races indoors tracks," Steinwall added. Jimmy Rafferty, of the New York Athletic Club, who outdistanced Haegg in his other three starts, oppose him tomorrow. Rafferty declared he could not obtain the off from his job to appear.

Haegg's opposition will be pro-

Tommy Quinn, of the New York Athletic Club; Rudy Simms, of Bainbridge (Md.) naval hospital, and James Cavanaugh, of Rhode Island State.

Mrs. Seymour is the mother of Mrs. Sigourney Hurd, daughter-in-law of the famed golfer.

Greensboro Open Will Start Today

GREENSBORO, N. C., March 22 (AP)—With Byron Nelson and Sammy Snead rated as odds-on favorites, the touring pros converged on Greensboro today with their sights leveled on the Greater Greensboro open starting tomorrow and which pays the par-busters $7,500 in war bonds.

The golfing caravan plays eighteen-holes Friday, a second round Saturday and thirty-six holes Sunday over the rugged 6,630-yard Starmount course, where the tourney is being revived after a lapse since 1942 when Sam Byrd, the former Yankee outfielder who now hails from Detroit, won the title.

With Nelson and Snead favored to win first and second money, Byrd was listed third by the betting fraternity, while Harold (Jug) McSpaden, the Sanford, Me., slugger was rated fourth.

Snead, who got a reverse round from Dame Fortune yesterday in the Charlotte open where he lost a second playoff by four strokes to Nelson's fine 69, limbered up today in a practice round by carding a sparkling 66, clipping five strokes from Starmount's par 71.

Walker Is Holdout, Rickey Announces

BEAR MOUNTAIN, N. Y., March 22 (AP)—Dixie Walker, National League batting champion, has definitely become a holdout, it was announced by Branch Rickey, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, today.

"Before I heard from Walker today I believed he would be in our lineup opening day, but now I'm not so sure about that," said Rickey. There is a possibility that Howie Schultz, six-foot-seven-inch first baseman, recently classified 1-A in the draft, may be rejected and resume his baseball career.

The difficult first-to-short-to-first double play was completed thirty-two times during the 1944 American League season.

Lee Oma Will Meet Mauriello Tonight

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)—Tam Maurello, New York heavyweight, and Lee Oma, Detroit boxer, completed their preparations for tomorrow night's Madison Square Garden ten rounder today, with the Michigan mauler the 2 to 1 favorite.

Oma, who won the second of their previous meetings and was ahead until knocked out in their first, isn't expected to scale more than 185 pounds. Mauriello has pared his poundage from 220 to 196.

The odds are 3 to 1 against Mauriello scoring a knockout which is the only way he can win, say Jacobs Beach experts.

NYU Defeats Tufts In NCAA Tournament

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)—New York university's highly favored Violets shook off a stubborn Tufts quintet in the final half tonight to win the opening game of the N. C. A. A.'s Eastern divisional basketball championship 59 to 44 at Madison Square Garden.

(Continued from Page 1) lives," said the mother. "We were used to a comfortable life and had all the money we needed. It wasn't easy to give it all up but the Lord willed it."

Boy Gets Messages
"Do you mean to tell me," asked one of the officers, "that your 14-year-old boy gets his messages from God?"

"He certainly does," answered the sister who relays the messages.

"When you throw yourself upon nature like this, do you consider your baby?" Deputy Sheriff Esequiel Cavazos asked the young child's mother. "The poor child is being eaten up by mosquitos."

"The Lord will protect her," was the reply.

"What does your husband think of this?" Chief Deputy Sheriff Will Gabler asked another of the sisters. "He's overcast and the Lord told me not to write to him."

"The Lord said my husband will find us when the time came," commented the mother of the baby.

Have $200 Left
They said they had about $200 of their $500 remaining.

At Independence neighbors said the Denham had departed several weeks ago, leaving their house locked but with the red sign painted on the inside of the window. They turned loose two cows and left behind a shaggy, black dog, which today sat disconsolately on the porch and barked at curious visitors.

A farmer living near the Denham farm said that one of the sons took him back of the barn some time ago pointed to the pigs, chickens, tractor and other equipment on the place and said:

"God tells me this belongs to you."

The farmer said he took the stock to his own home and that within a few days the son departed. He said that other relatives of the Denham came later and drove the tractor to his farm and left it.

Cumberland City Charter Revision Bill Introduced

Provides for Election of Nine-man Commission in March, 1946

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 22 (AP)—A bill to start in motion machinery for revision of Cumberland city charter was introduced today by Senator Robert B. Kimble, (R-Allegheny).

It would provide for election of a nine-man commission at the March, 1946 municipal election, all would be registered voters of the city, and the names would be placed in nomination by petitions signed by at least 300 qualified voters.

The sum of $5,000 would be set aside by mayor and council for expenses of the commission. The commission itself would serve without compensation.

"The charter commission shall undertake a complete study of the present charter and recommend to the city council, in whole or in part, any or all provisions and laws governing the City of Cumberland, without any limitations whatsoever, either in changing, amending or re-constituting the city or the City of Cumberland, including any or all departments or operations of the City of Cumberland," the bill provides.

The commission would be required to publish not later than October 1, 1946, the revised charter in newspapers of general circulation in the city or in pamphlet or other form.

Voters Would Decide

The proposed charter then would be submitted to the mayor and council who would submit it with recommendations to the state general election delegates from Allegeny county at the 1947 General Assembly session.

It passed by the assembly the revised charter would be submitted to voters at a special election referendum in 1947.

Clothing Drive Executive Group To Meet Tonight

Committee chairman to conduct a drive for 200,000 pounds of clothing in Cumberland next month will be named at a meeting of the clothing campaign's executive committee tonight, Harold W. Smith, secretary of the chamber of commerce, said yesterday.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. in the office of the Community Chest, Liberty Trust building, which will serve as a central headquarters for the campaign.

Chairman to be named include one for the collection of the clothing, another for sorting it after collection and a third for packing and shipping the clothing to a central point.

To Name Committee Members

W. Donald Smith said the committee chairman will be asked to name the members of their respective committees.

He added that ways and means of conducting the campaign will be discussed at the session tonight and that steps will be taken to collect cartons for use in packing and shipping the clothing donated.

One of the primary matters to be considered, Smith stated, will be obtaining a building or storage space large enough for storing and packing the clothing collected.

He pointed out that with a goal of 200,000 pounds of clothing, considerable space will be required for that purpose and that an average size storeroom will not be adequate.

Chest Facilities Offered

The executive committee chairman disclosed that the board of the Community Chest offered its secretary and facilities on the fifth floor of the Liberty Trust building to serve as a central office for the campaign and that the offer was accepted by Mayor Post.

Once definite plans are completed, questions in connection with the drive should be directed to that office, Smith said.

Letters asking merchants to save cartons for use in packing and shipping the clothing were sent out yesterday by Mark L. Lazarus, chairman of the mercantile bureau of the chamber of commerce.

Recreation Plan To Be Presented To City Officials

Year Around Program for Children Recommended by Local Group

A year around recreation program for all the children of the community as well as for older age groups will be recommended to the mayor and city council in the near future by a committee of business, professional and recreational groups.

Announcement of the desire to present the program to the city officials was made last night following a meeting of the committee which has been studying the matter for more than a year.

A spokesman for the committee termed last night's session the "culminating meeting" of a series of meetings "to consider the desirability of promoting the year around recreation program."

He said the nature of the program as it has been conceived would include arts, crafts, games, hobbies, music, drama and such types of diversified activity.

The committee believes, the spokesman said, that the employment of a fulltime director, trained and experienced in recreational activities, would be the best guarantee of the success of the program.

From its more than a year of study, the committee is convinced also, one of its members said, that the overall responsibility for the program should be vested in a commission established by ordinance.

Prevents Duplication

This commission, the committee's opinion, should include in its membership the superintendent of schools, scout executives, the YMCA secretary and trained heads of similar groups.

Such a commission would be the best assurance that duplications and overlapping would be eliminated, and the full resources of the community for the welfare of children would be used most effectively to meet the total need, the committeeman stated.

Twenty-five persons, comprising mostly employees of the Celanese Corporation of America and the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, enrolled for a course in industrial supervision which opened last evening in Fort Hill high school. The course of forty hours is scheduled to run fourteen weeks.

Given under the Engineering, Science and Management War Training Program sponsored by the United States Office of Education and administered through the University of Maryland, the course is being taught by Edward T. Beall, personnel assistant in charge of industrial relations at the Amelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America.

Enrollment in the course is limited to twenty-five persons but additional sections may be offered later.

At the present time a course in elementary organic chemistry is being conducted at Port Hill high school with a class of nine Celanese and one Baltimore employee and railroad employee enrolled.

Prof. Wilson P. Green, of the University of Maryland, last evening announced that plans are under way to inaugurate a course in basic industrial electronics at Port Hill high school April 12.

The instruction in the thirty-six hours spread over twelve weeks, will be Prof. W. Conley Smith, of the University of Maryland. High school graduates or employees in war jobs needing this training are qualified to take the course.

The electronics course will be run in two sections if there are enough students enrolled. It is planned to limit each section to twenty-five students.

Persons interested are requested to apply to Prof. Wilson P. Green, University of Maryland, College Park, Md., for application forms or company personnel directors.

14,000 Income Tax Returns Are Filed Through Local Office

Approximately 14,000 income tax returns for 1944 were filed through the local bureau of internal revenue office from January 15 until the midnight deadline on March 15, according to Richard J. Stakem, division chief of the local office.

Stakem said that 8,000 of the returns were made out on the withholding tax blanks, Form W-2. The other returns consisted of the long Form 1040 types and Form 1040-ES, for making estimates of income in 1945.

Those who used Form W-2 to file their income tax returns are already receiving bills from the internal revenue collector's office in Baltimore, he added. A period of grace is allowed before payment is due, calculated from the time the bill is sent out from the state office.

The first quarterly payment in 1945 on withholding and social security taxes will be due after April 1, Stakem said. Payment may be made at any time during the month.

A meeting of the executive board of Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, will be held Wednesday, March 28 at 7 p. m. at the home of Dr. Frank U. Davis, president, 24 Washington street.

Allegheny Ballistics Construction May Be Resumed Soon

Construction of a machine shop and other buildings at the Allegheny Ballistics Laboratory, Pinto, which was halted Wednesday after union workmen protested the use of maintenance men for construction work, is expected to be resumed next week with a contractor in charge of the project, an AF of L official announced yesterday.

The work involving projects which will cost over $50,000, was begun by the company about six weeks ago. A few maintenance men have been used by the construction, the union official said.

Holds Conferences

H. R. McDermott, of the Cleveland office of the War Production Board, conferred Wednesday and yesterday with company and union officials in an effort to settle the dispute involving workmen affiliated with the Building and Construction Trades Council of the AF of L.

F. Patrick Allender, business agent of the workers, said the use of maintenance men, although union men, as workers on new construction on government projects is contrary to an agreement between the union and the federal government covering new work.

Allender said that the union wants the work done under contract and then supply the workers. The maintenance men involved in the dispute are regularly employed at the plant and their participation on the job prevents other union workers, such as carpenters, painters and electricians from being used.

One and one-quarter tons of tin cans have been collected outside of sections yesterday as the three-day campaign to salvage at least fifteen to twenty tons of used cans got underway. W. Donald Smith, salvage chairman, reported last night, but he said he anticipates a collection today of between eight and ten tons.

The collection today will cover a section of Cumberland, including areas north of Greene street, Baltimore street and Baltimore avenue as well as Bedford and Frederick streets extended, and Smith said at least half of the campaign's goal should be collected from this territory.

One Ton at LaVale

Yesterday was the first time tin cans have been collected outside of Cumberland and Smith pointed out that the quantity collected, although not large, is tonnage above what ordinarily would be collected within the city.

Of the total collected yesterday, about one ton came from LaVale. No cans were turned in at Bowman's Addition or Locust Grove.

Although the tin can collection is still in progress and will conclude on Saturday with coverage of the areas south of Greene street, Baltimore street and Baltimore avenue, salvage officials have completed plans for the newspaper collection to be held next week.

LaVale Date Changed

The usual paper collection schedule will be followed with a few minor changes. In the past, the LaVale collection was made on Thursday and the Bowling Green and Potomac Park collections on Tuesday, but in next week's drive those three communities will be covered on Monday, the opening day.

The paper collection on Monday will follow the same schedule as the tin can collection yesterday—a carton of ten packs of cigarette papers, Bowmen's Addition, Locust Grove, Cash Valley road from Long to Corriganville and Mt. Savage road from the Narrows to and including Corriganville as well as LaVale, Potomac Park and Bowling Green.

Sam Dooley Receives Surprise Package

Samuel H. Dooley, of 217 Glenn street, department manager at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant, yesterday became one of the most envied men in Cumberland. He received birthday greetings from a nationally known cigarette manufacturer accompanied by a carton of ten packs of cigarette papers.

"The gift puzzles me," Dooley exclaimed, "and the strange thing is that the cigarettes happen to be my favorite brand. I don't know how they got my name and the date of my birthday."

Today is Sam's birthday.

Committee Is Lauded

Henry W. Price, chairman of the classified division, reported a total of $11,022, nine-tenths per cent of his quota of $11,840, has been raised by his workers.

No reports were made yesterday by Bradley S. Kehoe, chairman of the national firms division, or Harry A. Poreh, chairman of the labor division.

Judge Huster praised the work of Mrs. Morris Rosenberg, chairman of the entertainment committee, and her assistants in arranging for the three luncheon report meetings during the drive.

Mrs. Nat Guggenheimer, chairman, was in charge of arrangements for yesterday's luncheon. She was assisted by Mrs. Thomas Gulland, Mrs. William A. Gunter and Mrs. William Somerville.

Mrs. Vivian Mahoney supervised members of the Red Cross canton corps, who served the luncheon. They included Mrs. George Slifer, Mrs. Charles Callie, Mrs. Earl Sten, Mrs. Andrew Lewis, Mrs. Charles Welling, Mrs. Alice Case, Mrs. John Findlay, Mrs. Michael Berman, Mrs. William Glick, Mrs. Minna Dantzic, Mrs. Samuel Schwab, Mrs. George Millenson, Mrs. John Rickenberg, Mrs. John Wilkinson, Sr., and Miss Phyllis Emmert.

The Rev. David C. Watson, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal church, gave the invocation. The luncheon was attended by 125 persons.
